

There is no understanding without love, no truth without goodness. It's natural that without seeds, there won't be sprouts. It's said that what humans don't understand with their intellect is superstition, but matters of the divine realm require breathing in the divine realm to understand. Because humans don't understand, no matter what they say, there's no way to find the path once they've moved further from seeking God. It's a pity for those still trapped by learning, but it's not really a pity. Humans are nurtured to become spiritual beings; they grow and thrive. Blood lives through love, and love lives through joy. Where there is no joy, there is no love. Life flourishes where there is the divine principle (“ • ”).

When you awaken, you must rise; you won't be able to remain still. What God commands is transferred to humans in just that way. Seeing with spiritual eyes or hearing with spiritual ears often leads to mistakes, so be mindful.

Humans themselves are spiritual beings in relation to things. Humans are said to be the gods of this world. Things are at the disposal of humans. Idols should be rejected, but the ten virtues should be revered. There is no path leading to evil; the path of reason leads only to good. Do not proceed where there is no reasonable path.

It's not enough to focus solely on the spirit, nor is it enough to focus solely on the body. This is a world of mutual support. The inability to understand stems from thinking we are superior. Once awakened, improvement starts from that very day and moment. The way of God allows us to live joyfully in any world. If you cannot incorporate and understand all aspects, including evil, within wisdom, true realization will not occur. Wisdom is meant to encompass and understand everything. However, do not let evil enter into love.

At last, we have reached the guardianship of the manifest. This guardianship is one where there is neither good nor bad, only joy. It is not true guardianship if bad things become worse. Understand this well: gaining one soul is like gaining an entire world. Humans are not alone; God breathes within both good people and bad people. Without evil, life cannot continue; but evil is not inherently bad. It is the evil of those who stray from the path that is truly bad.

The key to human happiness lies in the direction of the mind. Since humans are always situated between good and evil, there is no such thing as only good or only evil. If one's inner self is aligned with God and their outer self is harmonious with others, if one's spirit is in tune internally and their body is at peace externally, that is enough. This alignment brings forth joy. Teachings that originate from God must collaborate and progress together with other teachings. Being confined by sects or doctrines is the teaching of evil. Do not be like pearls cast before swine. The will of heaven enters into human joy, while the will of the spirit world enters into sorrow

The supreme leader of evil is hidden away. The strategy is to make it appear as if the first and second commanders are having a great conflict, thereby causing chaos in the world. This plan is already ninety percent complete. When one attains true understanding, they will no longer be confined by religion or formalities. Without true understanding, one cannot discern true goodness, true faith, true evil, or true falsehood. When the cave opens and everything becomes clear, religion will no longer be needed, politics will no longer be needed. This will lead to a structure where songs of joy are sung loudly, and this will be reflected in the 'Fuji' (Mt. Fuji), 'fuji' (wealth), and 'fuji' (universal characters).

If one proceeds purely with logic, in the end, it will lead to mutual destruction, where we devour ourselves. If you seek God, He will earnestly guide you, leading you in a fulfilling way. It is not permissible to intentionally do evil in order to understand good. Intentionally doing evil to understand good is evil itself. Similarly, intentionally doing good to understand evil is also evil. When one intentionally does evil to understand evil, that is where the beneficial use of evil as good arises. The spirit world is also an aspect of God's governance.

If you rely on learned knowledge or your own ego, you will hit a dead end. The term 'newborn baby' refers to the pure, crystal-like state of having neither learned knowledge nor ego. Refining oneself to become a clear crystal is ideal. If you understand your parents' hearts, you must help them without being asked. You have heard it said that you should act before being told. You must not always rely on being taken care of like a child. Humans are not born sinners; they are children of joy, children of God. Because you are children of God, you must repent. True love's path can sometimes emerge even from the joy of sorrow, and those are called children of sin

Don't make things difficult; explain them in simple terms. The soul is divided into three levels: upper, middle, and lower. You must explain this division to others, or the plan will be delayed. In the beginning, God will help you, but as you progress, you must act on your own. You should not rely on using God forever. Understanding comes from truth, and will comes from good. This has been taught until now, but as the time for the opening of the cave has come, I give you the next key. Understand this well: the previous teachings are illusions and lack power. Through festivals, will and actions are united, leading to understanding. This is the festival of the higher gods. The illusion refers to human wisdom and reasoning, which is the 'knowledge of evil.' True understanding must follow the path of truth

In the divine heart, there is neither beginning nor end; everything exists within it. Look at the world, observe the three thousand worlds closely; everything is hidden in the sacred text. Within external support lies internal effort; relying solely on oneself will not achieve success. Merely marking time is insufficient. Love, if it is only love, is not true love; truth, if it is only truth, is not true truth. It is through the combination of these, with the insertion of the divine principle, that love becomes true love and truth becomes true truth. When love stands alone, it can turn into evil; when truth stands alone, it can become falsehood. There are times when falsehood and evil, when dedicated, can work for good. Be mindful of this.

If you act according to God's will, God will protect you, and everything will proceed smoothly and without worry. As long as you understand distinctions and order, you can worship any deity. By not making mistakes according to the time, place, and rank, you will prosper. Those with the same love and the same thoughts will naturally gather and unite. The form and reflection of heaven is found in the deep mountains, where both the sacred and the mundane coexist

Now that the seeds have sprouted, they must be thinned out.

We will differentiate between those who read the divine messages and those who do not, and among those who have internalized the messages and are deemed ready by God.

The sprouted seeds that have taken root in the heart will be transplanted elsewhere. Those who read but do not understand will be thinned out and used as fertilizer.

There's no need to make a pilgrimage to distant places; you can worship the deities enshrined in your own home, and it's the same thing. This is true, but seeking higher places is part of human duty and propriety. If there is sincerity, it can be achieved. Without renewal and restructuring, the world will continue to worsen. Awaken quickly. Without proper festivals, the truth cannot be conveyed. Just as you must respect children to guide them, understanding yourself leads to understanding everything

Please correct what you have realized as soon as possible. If it reaches the point where God has to intervene, it will be a disgrace to humanity, so humans should resolve things among themselves. It is not enough to just be grateful; you must work and make an effort. Simply staying still will not lead to progress. Without lighting a lamp, you cannot walk through the dark night. Become a light for each other. The divine messages are the oil, and this oil is inexhaustible, so light as many lamps as you can. It has been said to start anew with festivals. Engage in both grand and small festivals sincerely. When you align your heart with God's, you will clearly see God's presence

Positive and negative must be harmonized, but simple harmony alone will not produce power; it will lead to nothingness. The traditional methods of harmony are insufficient. Harmony must be joyful, melting together, and contain the divine principle (" • "). Any trace of cloudiness means it is not true harmony. Enduring and suppressing does not constitute true harmony. Previous methods of harmony may have resulted in impurities, which are forms of evil harmony. Without internalizing the divine messages, serving God will be difficult. Initially, you need to set clear goals and proceed; otherwise, you will merely wander in circles. Grasp and worship from whatever points you can reach. Unified happiness is the true, clear happiness

You must walk your own path, chew your own food with your own mouth. Chew it thoroughly; bitterness is just a seed of wisdom. Before sitting on the tatami mat, you must conduct yourself as appropriate for sitting on a tatami mat.

Life is an event; events are divine; the divine is the heart of God, it is joy. It is said to live according to the divine will.

Where there is an event, there is sound; where there is sound, there is color; where there is color, there is number.

The divine heart exists in goodness as well as in evil

Logic is one-sided; any argument can be made to stand, but relying on logic alone is unreliable and powerless. The divine works beyond logic; you must discern it carefully to avoid mistakes. Do not be imprisoned by it. Working for others' sake is a joy; working for the whole is a joy. It is the life of light. Everyone carries burdens; it is through these burdens that we remain steadfast against the wind. This principle should be embraced with tears of joy and sweat. Do you wish to be relieved of your burdens? There are heavy burdens and light burdens. Seeds sown today will not bear fruit tomorrow; impatience arises from human desires. Live according to the divine path and wait for the harvest season patiently. The seeds you sow will surely bear fruit, and no one will take away what is rightfully yours. Burn with passion for the future while living fully in the present, walking gracefully with the divine in the universe

Tears should be shed towards everything, repentance should be offered, accept everything, give thanks for everything, for everything is oneself, and everything is joy

If there's a train, ride the train; if there's a plane, board the plane. Walking or going by horse won't get you there in time. The old ways of religion won't suffice; even if the foundation is good, you won't reach your destination easily. In the era of airplanes, you must ride airplanes. You must follow the path of religion that progresses as you ride. The present is the truth now; don't grumble about it, unable to accept it. The existing thing itself is the truth. Worship and bless that existing thing, and set forth from there. Blessing the present blesses the past, the future, and everything. Regardless of the current circumstances, you must bless the present, find joy in it. It's the foundation of joy. This is the scroll of black iron
